DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The purpose of claims 6 and 7 is unclear. What is the difference between the two?

Contacting is a process, and to some extent therefore must be dynamic. If it is not dynamic, then nothing has happened.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mudryk.

The reference teaches the method for removing residual organic solvents from a pharmaceutical drug. The technique involves placing the drug plus water, to provide water vapor, in an oven which can be kept at atmospheric pressure; see paragraph 1 of column 2. Another technique is to pass moist nitrogen gas into the fluid bed dryer (named in the instant claim 19) at atmospheric pressure; see column 2, lines 22-25 and example 3.

Art Unit: 1624

Although the reference teaches removal of solvents generally, it is particularly directed to the removal of aliphatic alcohols,, named at column 1, line 12 as the specific solvent category of particular interest. The working examples are drawn to the removal of ethanol and isopropanol, the solvents named in these claims. valacyclovir hydrochloride is not specifically named, another another hydrpochloride is used in example 2. However, the use of any drug would be obvious. One is motivated to try to remove alcohols from any drug prepared in alcohols (which, as the specification notes, is true for valacyclovir hydrochloride) in order to comply with the ICH standards for residual solvents, as taught by the reference at the last full paragraph in column 2.

Some of the claims, e.g. claim 15, use humid air, whereas the reference has humid nitrogen. This would be an obvious variation, given the fact that air is mostly nitrogen.

Applicants are simply applying a known technique for removing alcohols from drugs, and in particular for drugs which are hydrochloride salts. This is thus obvious.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Art Unit: 1624

Claims 1-19 provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 8-15 of copending Application No. 10880862. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because these are drawn to the exact same step. The results are recited differently in the preamble, but the same actual physical step is involved. Thus, the contacting reduces the solvent concentration and thereby reduces the instability.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
